

Let the Little Children Come

Lesson 3. THE LIVING WATERS

Purpose: a) To enable the child to realize that there is water that you can see and water that you can't see.

b) To introduce the "second day" of Creation.

Materials needed: A damp cloth,
a dry cloth,
a glass of water,
an atomizer

- Presentation:
- 1) Remind the children that on the "first day" God separated the darkness from the light so that we could see.
  - 2) Show them the wet cloth and ask them what they "see."
  - 3) Tell them that there is something about this cloth that is still "in the darkness"...something about this cloth that they still don't know.
  - 4) Ask them if there is another way of "bringing it out of the darkness," other than with their eyes.
  - 5) If they have forgotten, remind them that they can feel what it is.
  - 6) Let them touch the damp cloth, and if they don't respond with "It's wet," ask them if it feels wet to them.
  - 7) Explain that it feels wet because there is water in it, water that they can't see with their eyes, but can feel with their hands.
  - 8) Show them a glass of water and ask what is in the glass.
  - 9) Tell them that the glass holds water that we can see with our eyes, but the cloth held water that we couldn't see with our eyes...two kinds of water, the kind we can see and the kind we can feel.
  - 10) Spray the atomizer over them and watch the water disappear. (They will feel it as it touches them.)
  - 11) Explain that on the "second day," after God separated the darkness from the light, He separated the waters...the kind you could see with you eyes from the kind you could feel...and put Heaven between them.

Let the Little Children Come

Activity: Do the “Pouring Exercises” after the lesson.

Song: The Creation Song, verses 1 and 2,
while the children work or play with the equipment:

2. But still He wasn't through.
It then became day “two.”
He spent the day by separating waters.
The ones high up above,
The ones far down below,
And Heaven was between them Don you know?
Hallelujah, hallelujah, hallelujah.
